Suspected or Confirmed COVID + Employee Return to Work Process
Created: 5/5/2020, Updated 8/5/2020

For patients with severe illness, duration of isolation for up to 20 days after symptom onset may be warranted. Consider consultation with infection control experts.

1. In a role with no interaction with others – i.e. – telehealth or office role
2. Direct care with COVID positive or suspected positive patients
3. Direct care with non COVID positive or suspected positive patients

Additional Crisis Criteria can be considered to bring COVID positive, asymptomatic employees back to work early. Prioritized duties of the employee to consider include:
