Vancomycin Trough Critical Value

The Vancomycin Trough critical value has been changed from ≥ 50 ug/mL to ≥ 25.0 ug/mL.
This decision was made based on substantial literature support that elevated vancomycin troughs are associated with increased risk of nephrotoxicity. Normal therapeutic range for vancomycin trough is 10 ug/mL to 20 ug/mL. This change should help decrease the risk of inadvertent vancomycin administration with elevated trough level.

Price changes for some miscellaneous tests, note the CPT code change in Red.
