Chemotherapy-specific websites

https://www.cancer.gov/
National Cancer Institute website which addresses cancer types, cancer treatment and side effects.

The American Cancer Society has information available on cancer types, cancer treatments, side effects and survivorship.

https://chemocare.com/
A reliable chemotherapy basics website which has information about before and after chemotherapy administration, management of side effects and educational videos.

https://www.lls.org
Leukemia & Lymphoma Society website with helpful information under the Patients & Caregivers tab.

https://www.nccn.org/patients/
National Comprehensive Cancer Network (NCCN) is a not-for-profit alliance of 28 leading cancer centers devoted to improving patient care, research, and education. NCCN aims to provide state-of-the-art cancer treatment information in easy-to-understand language to people with cancer and the general public.